

Hospital Honors Isaac Albert

Isaac Albert, president of the Jewish Chronic Disease Hospital, will be honored by the institution's Joseph Chaim Albert Synagogue at a reception and ceremony to be held at the hospital, E. 49 St. & Rutland Rd., Brooklyn, Sun. aft. Oct. 5, at 1 p.m., it was announced today by Murray Ringelheim, chairman of the Synagogue Committee.

The Synagogue was named in honor of Mr. Albert's late father.

The event is in honor of Mr. Albert's 70th birthday, which also marks his 15th year as president of the hospital.
